

Program Costs

Costs for a Faculty-Led Study Abroad Program

There are three types of fees for every faculty-led study abroad program:

Program Fees

Program fees are specific to the program in which the student chooses to participate. On the specific program's page, a list of what is covered by the program fee is located under the Dates and Costs tab. Housing and some meals are always included in the program fees. Transportation, meals, health insurance, and other costs vary by program. Airfare is almost never included.

Program Fee	Costs
Installment One	$500 deposit added to student's billing statement when applying for program
Installment Two	Varies by program; will be on the fee bill for the same semester as the program (Will be $500 less than actual program fee since deposit has already been paid)

LSU Tuition and Fees

All students taking courses at LSU pay tuition and fees for the courses. The amount of tuition assessed is based on whether or not the student is a resident of Louisiana. Students who are not residents of Louisiana will pay out of state tuition for courses they take through LSU. All students who receive course credit through LSU pay tuition, regardless of the location of the course. Tuition is based on residency, not the location of the classroom. Courses taught on short-term programs are assessed tuition at the same rates as courses taught on the main campus. Tuition rates can be found in the LSU Fee Schedule.

LSU Tuition and Fees	Costs
In-state tuition	LSU Fee Schedule
Out-of-State tuition	LSU Fee Schedule

Expenses Not Covered by the Program Fee

Airfare, passports, spending money, and some meals are generally not included in program fees. For an exact list of what is covered by the program fee, visit the program's page and look under the Dates and Costs tab.

Expenses not covered in program fee	Costs
Airfare	Dependent on location
Meals	Some meals are covered in the program fee. For a complete listing of what is included in the program fee, see your program's Dates and Costs section.

Costs for a National Student Exchange

A domestic exchange allows you to have an out-of-state experience at an in-state price! You can live and study in another part of the country while earning credit towards your LSU degree, and you still get your financial aid (including TOPS).

On a National Student Exchange, there are 2 payment options:

- Home Pay = You pay tuition/fees to LSU (your "Home" university).
- Host Pay = You pay tuition/fees to your "Host" university. (You pay that university's in-state rate, even if you're not a resident of that state.)
