Welcome! i

Public Speaking is required for students in many majors because ALL college students need excellent oral communication skills.

Academics – In coursework across campus, students need to contribute in large lectures, present their research in classes or at conferences, and present their work in groups. If they continue to graduate school, the need for great speaking skills only increases.

Professions – In every profession, college graduates need excellent communication skills. Just take a look at the classified ads; employers are looking for new employees who are well trained in their disciplines and who can communication that knowledge to clients and peers.

Citizenship – Those same skills are necessary for effective participation in the community – for presenting to City Council, a fund-raising appeal for the PTA, or a protest to the judge when a speeding fine has been imposed!

Public Speaking is important for your academic and professional success! This course is designed to help you build skills in your communication with audiences—whether they are your classmates, employers, clients, or fellow citizens.

You've probably had some experience with speaking in public, such as presenting a report to the members of a club or accepting a trophy at a sports banquet. This course will help you to build skills and confidence as you explore strategies for creating and delivering effective speeches.

Required Texts: Lucas, Stephen E. (2015) The Art of Public Speaking (12th ed). McGraw Hill.

COURSE DESCRIPTION

CMST 2060 is a General Education Humanities Course designed to familiarize students with the study of public speaking. The act of public speaking is the culmination (and often the beginning) of a long process of critical dialogue between oneself, language, and the imagined responses of the audience. In other words, it takes being confident in who you are, what you want to say, how you are going to say it, who you want to say it to, and why you should say anything at all. Throughout the semester, students will be introduced to the fundamental concepts of public speaking.

Spring 2018

As a General Education Humanities Course, CMST 2060 will enable students to demonstrate an understanding of historical, cultural, and philosophical complexity that supports sophisticated discourse.

COURSE GOALS

As a result of this course, students should:

- 1. Understand the principles of rhetoric and effectively utilize them in crafting well researched, reasoned, and appealing speeches.
- 2. Choose topics for public speaking that are timely, relevant, and adaptable given varying situations in which the message may be delivered, and for different audiences.
- 3. Effectively and critically evaluate message/speech content and delivery, both when examining one's own work as well as that of others.
- 4. Understand and utilize the verbal and nonverbal elements essential for exemplary speech delivery.
- 5. Analyze and discuss speeches of historical, political and social significance.

COURSE POLICIES—IN THE CLASSROOM

Attendance & Participation:

Your attendance at each class meeting is expected. You are expected to attend all classes just as you would be expected to go to work every day if this was any other job. Your class participation grade will be determined based on in-class discussion participation, assignments/exercises, online activities, and analysis of in-class presentations throughout the semester. Attendance does not simply mean you show up. You must be actively engaged in order to receive any participation points.

The design of this class is dependent on your contribution. Because this is a performance presentation style class, you need to have an audience when you give a speech, and you need to be part of the audience when others speak. Informal work, such as practice assignments and evaluations of peers in a synchronous environment, does yield participation points and can't be made up at a later date. If you have an illness or emergency documented through the office of your Dean, I will do everything possible to help you work through the problem and maintain good grades.

Note: Excuses are provided through the Student Health Center or the Dean's Office when you have to miss all of your classes because you are hospitalized, have a severe illness, experience a death in the family, or have some other trauma. Any of these must be documented. Begging your dean for an excuse because you didn't feel like giving your speech or lying about an illness is unethical and wastes everyone's time. In those cases, you might be subject to action by the University Honor System.

Missed Presentations & Late Work:

Major class assignments are to be turned in by the time class starts on the day that they are due. Assignments will not receive full credit if turned in after the end of class on the day that they are due. In other words, if you arrive late to class, the assignment is late and will automatically be penalized.

Spring 2018

In the same sense, if you arrive late to class on the day of your speech, your assignment will be reduced by one letter grade, even if you are "on time" for your own presentation. Showing respect for your classmates by arriving on time to class on the day of presentations is of great importance. Major class assignments will be accepted prior to the established deadline.

If you miss a speech presentation, you will be allowed to make up the presentation for partial credit and through arrangements with the instructor. Just as with any other job, you would certainly make every effort to contact your co-workers or boss if extenuating circumstances prevented you from meeting an important deadline. The same should be true for this class.

Prior arrangements must be made with the instructor if extenuating circumstances prevent you from meeting an important deadline. If prior arrangements have been made, a penalty of one letter grade will be assessed to any late work. If you miss work due to a university approved absence, you will be responsible for providing documentation to confirm the excused dates and for coordinating make-up work, making every effort to make arrangements before the absence when possible.

Technology Policy:

There are some students that use their laptops in class effectively. There are others that use their laptops as a means to pay partial attention. Inappropriate use of laptops in class is not just ill advised, it is also disruptive, distracting, and disrespectful. Use of a laptop in class is a privilege not a right. If you abuse this privilege you will receive a 0 for participation that day, and in some cases you may be asked to leave. If I notice a preponderance of students abusing this privilege, I will ban laptops.

- Laptop computers and similar devices used for note-taking as a learning aid are permitted in class. You should also have paper and a writing utensil on all days for group activities.
- All other technology (smart phones, etc.) are NOT permitted for use during class. Use during class will result in substantial reduction in overall course participation points with an increasing reduction in points for each use thereafter.
- In case of emergencies requiring cell phone access during the class session, you should notify your professor before class begins and attempt to sit near the entrance to the classroom.

Recording:

Throughout the semester, we will record two-four of your speeches for you to view. These will be used as a training resource for you to improve on your speaking. Students are NOT allowed to record other students in the course without their permission.

Plagiarism:

You are to assume that all assignments in this course are individual assignments unless explicit instructions are provided for a group project. Any student found to have turned in material not his or her own (either downloaded from the internet or written by another student) in part or in whole will immediately be reported to the Dean of Students.

The Internet has made plagiarism very easy and very tempting. Hundreds of sites offer papers, research, writing, and editing. The ease with which such material is available over the Internet does not lessen the seriousness of claiming material from the Internet as your own. See the LSU policies on plagiarism here: http://www.lib.lsu.edu/instruction/plagiarism2.html.

Spring 2018

Your paper would be considered as plagiarized in part or entirely if you do any of the following:

- Submit a paper that was written by someone other than you.
- Submit a paper in which you use the ideas, metaphors or reasoning style of another, but do not cite that source and/or place that source in your list of references. Simply rewording a sentence does not make work your own.
- Submit a paper in which you "cut and paste" or use the exact words of a source and you do not put the words within quotation marks, use footnotes or in-text citations, and place the source in your list of references.

Extra Credit: No extra credit assignments will be allowed.

Academic Etiquette: Do not carry on side conversations or read the newspaper during class. Do not text, update your relationship status on Facebook, tweet/subtweet, take selfies, post pictures of your food on Instagram, etc. I will ask you to leave the room if you are disturbing others. Turn off all cellular phones prior to entering class. If you are on your phone, computer, electronic device, etc. for any reason not related to the class discussion or during presentations, you will not receive credit for the class. I won't make a deal of it during class, but it will be noted.

Disabilities: The Americans with Disabilities Act and the Rehabilitations Act of 1973 states: "If you have a disability that may have some impact on your work in this class and for which you may require accommodations, please see a coordinator in the Office of Disability Affairs (112 Johnston Hall) so that such accommodations can be arranged." After you receive the accommodation letters, please meet with me to discuss the provisions of those accommodations.

LSU Commitment to Community: The LSU Commitment to Community provides a guiding ethos to the University community. Students are encouraged to exemplify the Commitment to Community in their daily lives.

Louisiana State University is an interactive community in which Students, faculty, and staff together strive to pursue truth, advance learning, and uphold the highest standards of performance in an academic and social environment.

It is a community that fosters individual development and the creation of bonds that transcend the time spent within its gates.

All students should maintain and uphold the LSU Code of Student Conduct, which states: To demonstrate my pride in LSU, as a member of its community, I will:

- Accept responsibility for my actions;
- Hold myself and others to the highest standards of academic, personal, and social integrity;
- Practice justice, equality, and compassion in human relations;
- Respect the dignity of all persons and accept individual differences;
- Respect the environment and the rights and property of others and the University:
- Contribute positively to the life of the campus and surrounding community; and
- Use my LSU experience to be an active citizen in an international and interdependent world.

The continued success of LSU depends on the faithful commitment by each community member to these, our basic principles. (Adopted May 1995)

STUDENT GROWTH

Your Time Contributions: Any homework or online assignments are designed to enhance your learning. They are planned to meet the requirements of a standard 3-credit course.

The assignments are based on the standards of higher education—3 hours outside class for every hour in.

Student Growth as a Speaker: This course will certainly help you build your speaking skills, and you may have the idea that you have a lot to accomplish or that you are an accomplished speaker already. If you've had speaking experiences in the past, you should build on those as you develop or refine skills in the following "canons of rhetoric," which have been acknowledged to be important in public speaking since the 5th century B.C.:

1. Invention 2. Arrangement 3. Style 4. Memory 5. Delivery

Spring 2018

Student Growth through Formal Writing: Written work will help you to organize and document your speeches, and it will assist you in processing information and reflecting on various standards for public speaking. Just as presentation is a component of speaking, it is also a component of writing. Readers make assumptions about your preparedness and your credibility based on the accuracy and style of your presentation. Your work must include the following components:

- Appropriate content meets the requirements of the assignment and reflects critical thinking on your part.
- Presentation includes correct grammar and usage, effective style, and appropriate language choices. Presentation also refers to the format you use for written work -- standard essay style, standard font (size 12), one-inch margins all around.
- Documentation (if necessary) should be evidenced in two ways: oral citation and bibliography in correct MLA/APA or Chicago formatting. When in doubt, document! Don't risk an Honor Code violation by incorporating another author's work into your own without citing it appropriately.
- Submission of materials should occur either in class (hard copy) or through Moodle. Include your name as part of the file name as shown on YOUR computer. That way, the file I received will show your name in the file.

Connecting with Faculty and Students

Respect, respect! Just as you would treat colleagues in the workplace or classmates in a classroom, your faculty and colleagues in this course also deserve your respect. Practice your communication skills whenever you post a message or send an email. Your tone should be friendly and professional.

Quality Engagement

Respect also involves providing quality work for others to receive and respond to. Don't waste the time of your classmates or faculty by submitting work you haven't spent any time developing. If you do not understand any material covered in class, please do not hesitate to come to my office hours. Also feel free to ask questions during the lecture. Engage in the conversation and the presentations with enthusiasm and depth. You will also be providing feedback to peers about their work. Please offer constructive criticism so that your classmates can recognize what they did well when they gave their speeches and what they might do to improve for the next time.

Submitting work online or in-class also requires punctuality. I am committed to evaluating work promptly and to help you to be ready for the next assignment. If you stay on schedule, you'll be ready! Of course, written work may be submitted late (with penalties as described in another part of this syllabus); however, the evaluation of that work will also be delayed because I am keeping up with the submissions of the class.

Email exchanges also hinge on punctuality. If you have a question or concern, please let me know immediately. Likewise, I will respond as soon as possible on weekdays during normal working hours. The best way to get a hold of me is either during office hours or via email. It is strongly encouraged that you email ahead of time to let me know if you plan to attend office hours. This way, I can be best prepared to help you.

When you email, you should treat it like formal correspondence. In other words, do not use "texting" language. If I get an email like this: "what r we doing tmrw? NE thing important?" I will ignore it. In an email it is standard to have a greeting, a main body in which the request or question is stated, and a sign-off.

I will do my best to respond to emails within 24 hours if received during standard business hours during the week. Expect responses in 48-72 hours for emails received on holidays or over the weekend. I will not discuss grades via email. Come see me during my office hours or before/after class if you need to discuss grades.

RESEARCH PARTICIPATION:

The material you will learn in this course is the product of research. The goal of the research learning requirement is to help you to gain knowledge about the process by which scholars attempt to understand human behavior. All students taking CMST 1061, 2010, 1150, and 2060 must complete a research learning requirement. For each course in which a student is enrolled, he or she must complete 2 research credits. You can fulfill your requirement by:

- 1. Participating in research studies conducted in the Department of Communication Studies. All studies that last between 0 and 30 minutes will count as one credit. Any study that lasts between 31 and 60 minutes will count as two credits. Each study will specify the number of credits a student can earn for completion. There will be several survey and experimental studies conducted throughout the semester. These studies are held on campus at various times and in various locations or are administered through online survey software. All available studies are approved by the Institutional Review Board at LSU.
- 2. Participating in an organized departmental function such as debate or public speaking Competition. Only departmental sanctioned events will count toward a student's research learning requirement; thus, no credit will be given for a student attending an outside speaker or performance.
- 3. Serving as a research assistant for a faculty member in the Department of Communication Studies. The number of units and requirements for those units will be set by the researcher and either accepted or rejected by the student. The research learning requirement is worth 3% of your total grade; you will receive your 3% if you accumulate 2 research credits during the given semester.

Please note that all research learning credits must be completed and allocated by Tuesday, April 17, at 11:59 PM (the Tuesday prior to the start of the concentrated study period).

ALL available options to earn credit are posted on an electronic bulletin board located at https://lsuhumanresearch.sona-systems.com/Default.aspx?ReturnUrl=/. When you go to this website, you will first have to request an account. Once you have secured an account, you will be able to log in and see the options available to you for your various CMST courses.

Spring 2018

Please note that various ways to fulfill your research learning requirement will appear on this bulletin board throughout the semester. You are encouraged to check the system on a regular basis for current credit options that fit your interests as well as your schedule.

It is very important that when you sign-up for a credit option that you attend that option or cancel your sign up. Failure to show up twice during one semester will result in your access to the system being restricted and you being unable to complete your research learning requirement. Valid excuses for failing to cancel a sign up and missing a credit option are the same as those found in LSU Policy Statement 31.

Detailed instructions on how to request an account and to navigate the system are posted on the homepage of the Department of Communication Studies, http://www.lsu.edu/cmst. Click on RESOURCES and RESEARCH PARTICIPATION SYSTEM. Scroll down to find the document titled "RPS—Instructions for Students."

You are encouraged to create an account during the first week of classes so that any problems that arise can be remedied before it is too late. If you have questions about this requirement or the online system that keeps track of credits, please email researchadmin@lsu.edu.

TITLE IX & Sexual Misconduct Policy:

Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972 is a comprehensive federal law that prohibits discrimination based on the gender of students and employees of educational institutions that receive federal financial assistance.

In accordance with Title IX and other applicable law, Louisiana State University ("LSU") is committed to providing a learning, working, and living environment that promotes integrity, civility, and mutual respect in an environment free of discrimination on the basis of sex and sexual misconduct which includes sex discrimination, sexual harassment, dating violence, domestic violence, sexual assault, stalking and retaliation. LSU prohibits sex discrimination and sexual misconduct. This policy applies to all persons without regard to sexual orientation, gender identity and/or gender expression.

Sex discrimination and sexual misconduct violate an individual's fundamental rights and personal dignity. LSU considers sex discrimination and sexual misconduct in all of its forms to be serious offenses. This policy has been developed to reaffirm these principles and to provide recourse for individuals whose rights have been violated. This policy establishes a mechanism for determining when rights have been violated in employment, student life, campus support services, LSU programs and/or an academic environment.

HAVE YOU DECLARED YOUR MAJOR OR MINOR?

Business leaders and other professionals recognize the importance of developing communication skills and analysis. Alan Greenspan, for example, stated, "To succeed, you will soon learn, as I did, the importance of a solid foundation in the basics of education – literacy, both verbal and numerical, and communication skills." We hope this course contributes to your success.

To learn more about communication, you may want to major or minor in the Department of Communication Studies. The program explores how people sustain and change, experience, and make sense of the world through symbolic action. Students develop conceptual skills to analyze written, oral, and visual messages. Students gain practical experience in such areas such as public speaking, group decision-making, performance, and film. Such skills are elemental to careers in business, government, law, social services, and the arts.

A major in Communication Studies requires 36 hours including 12 hours of core classes and 12 hours at the 3000 or 4000 level. A minor requires 15 hours with one core class and 6 hours at the 3000 level or above.

The Department of Communication Studies offers 6 Pathways of Study as guidance for students interested in taking CMST courses. These pathways include lists of courses that can be taken for students interested in the following areas within Communication Studies:

- Public Discourse
- Art and Culture
- Professional Communication
- Communication in Human Relationships
- Visual and Mediated Communication
- Create your Own Pathway

More information is available at www.lsu.edu/cmst or by contacting our undergraduate advisor Mr. Kent Filbel (kfilli@lsu.edu), whose hours are posted at his office, 135 Coates Hall.

ⁱ Some components of this syllabus were adapted from the language of and materials previously developed by Brandi Quesenberry & Dr. Marlene Preston, Department of Communication, Virginia Tech, and Dr. Kathleen Searles, Department of Political Science, LSU.
